Academic Advising Techniques: 3-Part Webinar Series

Once the live date has passed, these webinars will be available on demand.

Webinar 1: Evidence-Based Academic Advising: 10 Essential Components Of A Successful Program Thursday, January 30 ~ 3:00-4:30pm (Eastern)

In this interactive webinar, we will explore the mechanics involved in developing and maintaining successful academic advising programs, discuss the challenges involved and how to overcome them, and dissect the process for fostering stronger, more productive, responsive and cost-effective advising relationships. We will investigate, in detail, evidence-based best practices for helping academic advising programs reach their full potential as well as how they can be effectively improved and expanded on an on-going basis.

Webinar 2: Integrating Appreciative Advising To Positively Impact Retention, Persistence & Graduation Wednesday, February 6 ~ 1:00-2:30pm (Eastern)

In this interactive webinar, we will explore the mechanics involved in developing and maintaining a successful, appreciative academic advising program, discuss the challenges involved and how to overcome them, and dissect the process for fostering stronger, more productive, responsive and cost-effective advising relationships within the context of an integrated appreciative advising model. We will investigate, in detail, evidence-based best practices for using the Appreciative Advising approach to help students achieve their full potential both academically and in their careers – and how this will precipitate and support enhanced retention-to-graduation.

Webinar 3: Advising Students Who Have Been Academically Dismissed: Challenges & Opportunities Tuesday, March 31 ~ 1:00-2:30pm (Eastern) & Wednesday, May 6 ~ 3:00-4:30pm (Eastern)

In this interactive webinar, we will explore the characteristics of college students who have been academically dismissed from a variety of different perspectives. We will discuss the advising challenges inherent to this population as well as how to overcome them and provide evidence-based best practices and strategies for potentially getting these students back in school and retaining these students to graduation. We will also explain the various options these students have and how to respond to their needs, realistically and comprehensively. Included in this discussion will be how to determine if a student should continue in school and how to advise them if the answer is 'no.' Moreover, we will examine successful programs and initiatives from across the nation that is currently being used to effectively and cost-efficiently meet the advising needs of students who have been academically dismissed. We will also look at how these programs and initiatives can be adapted to a variety of higher education environments. Equal emphasis will be placed on helping both individual students who have been dismissed as well as the institutions that serve them to achieve their mutually complementary goals and objectives.
